

The Center for Campus Fire Safety (CCFS) was formed to provide a central focal point for the complex issues surrounding campus fire safety. The goal of the Center is to provide a place for those interested in campus fire safety to share ideas and learn from their peers. CCFS supports the efforts of college and university emergency planning, and a balanced approach to campus fire safety and security.

Operations of CCFS are a team effort and we are fortunate to have a leadership team made up of well known and nationally respected leaders in the area of campus fire safety.

These dedicated professionals provide a wealth of experience, knowledge and expertise that is unmatched anywhere and they are responsible for the oversight and operations of CCFS.

Learn more about the officers, board members and headquarters staff, their experience and their roles within CCFS on our website.

Executive Committee & Board of Directors

The daily operation of the Center is managed by the Board of Directors. These dedicated professionals provide a wealth of experience, knowledge and expertise that is unmatched anywhere.

Committees

In an effort to tap its vast cadre of talented and experienced members, CCFS utilizes multiple committees to meet the challenges we all face today as we strive to provide a fire safe campus environment.

Advisory Council

Independent of CCFS sponsors, the Advisory Council provides valuable strategic vision and wisdom to the Board of Directors and CCFS. The council's members are experts and leaders in corporations, industry, and public service.

CCFS is dedicated to public education to help reduce the loss of life and property resulting from fire at our nation's institutions of higher learning.

CCFS is a Non-Profit Organization & Resource

CCFS actively engages in its fire and life safety mission for college and university campuses without commercial or monetary profit purposes.

We are supported through the generosity of those committed to campus fire safety, and the open exchange of information from the professionals dedicated to protecting our nation's college and university communities.

Membership in The Center

Become a member of The Center and network with those who share your interests. Memberships are available for a variety of participants ranging from those that work in universities, to the fire safety industry, and advocates of fire safety.

Membership Central

An online meeting place for members of The Center, we offer opportunities to present yourself and your fire safety accomplishments online, network with peers, and receive the latest news and resources. As a member, you will have the ability to post your own news, search for other members, review product information that is specific to our mission, visit our career and resource centers, participate in our programs and more.

National Campus Fire Safety Month

September is National Campus Fire Safety Month. How will your campus recognize it? You can make a difference!

CFSM was first proclaimed by The Center in 2005 and was formalized nationally in 2007 by both the House and U.S. Senate.

Outreach & Education

Campus Fire Safety e-NEWZONE™

Our complimentary monthly newsletter reaches over 15,000 readers. It is devoted to empowering and helping campus officials maintain the safety of their campuses wisely by discussing those fire safety issues that affect the students' campus. To automatically receive a free copy, simply sign up on our website.

FireSmart Campus™

A program developed for the fire safety educator, FireSmart Campus shares successful instructor methodologies and a toolbox full of resources for fire and life safety education.

Webinar Training

CCFS offers bi-monthly webinar training. Training is free to members, and available to non members at a small cost. Training webinars are typically 60 to 90 minutes. A certificate of attendance is available upon completion.

Resources

Campus Fire Data

Campus Fire Data provides a launching point for an online nationwide campus fire reporting program and will start a more accurate and defined portrayal of fire as it affects colleges and universities in the United States. As there has yet to be a true study done on these numbers, we pioneering the effort with the support and expertise of several partners who share our common mission of fire and life safety on campuses.

This project is underwritten by the National Electrical Manufacturers Association.

Campus Fire Forum

Campus Fire Forum is the nation's premiere conference focusing specifically on fire safety in the campus community. Beginning as an invitation only event, the Forum has steadily grown in popularity each year. Join your colleagues and network with your peers from across the country and around the world. From the educational sessions, exhibitions, and technology presentations to the popular Town Meeting, you'll gain new ideas and proven techniques to protect your campus community.

We believe awareness and knowledge will minimize fire and life safety emergencies on and off campus
