FROM THE PRESIDENT

As I sit here writing this month’s from the President, the summer is quickly running down. Soon Campuses will be reopening and students returning to the campuses. Summer is over for many. As the students return many of us have to adjust our daily routines. Student orientation, new student programs, and 1st week activities all begin to ramp up. Classes begin.

September is Campus Fire Safety month in many areas and the Center wants to know what is happening on your campus.

If it's Predictable - It's Preventable:
This past week my community had a reminder that our fire prevention efforts can never stop, especially with student housing. Well before the arrival of the students for the fall semester we are College move-in day finally arrived. When I went to college, students moved in clothes and other personal essentials. The college kids of today are different. I was impressed at how accommodating upperclassmen were about helping the freshmen move in. There was an army of students wearing golf shirts bearing the names of fraternities and sororities, waiting at the front door to carry boxes up the stairs and elevators. Some of these helper students were seen carrying in television sets, video games, small refrigerators, microwave ovens, and a myriad of other essential and unessential appliances.

This fire was very typical in off-campus housing; a grease fire from unattended cooking and...
